

hey, mom

you're welcome!

6 things that delight us this month

1. Golden Charging

If you use something every day, it may as well be gorgeous. Bando's phone charger, The Power Trip, has an extra-long cord and a car adaptor. $32; bando.com

2. Eye Candy

This delightful image is courtesy of our Insta obsession with @official_dads. (That's, ahem, "dads into living fit.")

Etore Electric Kettle quietly boils up to 13 cups of water with the touch of a button, then shuts off automatically. Use it to start a batch of homemade iced tea without turning on the stove or ruing naptime with a whistling pot. $50; store.moma.org

3. Aussie Yum!

Love artisanal gelato? This is the yogurt equivalent: not low-fat or low-sugar, but fresh and delicious and worth every calorie when motherhood has you craving a treat. Koel Thomae, a Colorado mom by way of Australia, found the family recipe in her home country and brought it to America. Noosa is from whole milk, sweetened with a bit of wildflower honey and fresh fruit purees and made in small batches on a family dairy farm north of Denver. New Noosa Yoghurt Mates even have mix-ins like Guittard chocolate. $2.50 each; target.com

5. Multitasking Makeup

Parents beauty contributor and mom of two, Melissa Brown, turned us on to this pigment-rich lipstick, which doubles as a shiny gloss and moisturizing balm. Master makeup artist (and another glam mama) Laura Geller created Shine Stick Triple Benefit Lip Color, and it's pretty much everything. $24; ulta.com

6. The Total Eclipse

Ask for the long weekend now: A total solar eclipse happens Monday, August 21st, and even though it only lasts about two minutes, it's kind of a big deal. Your kids will be seven years older by the time there's another viewable from the U.S.! Consider a camping getaway to celebrate; find the best viewing spots (roughly on the diagonal from South Carolina to Oregon) and tips for watching the phenomenon safely at greatamerican.eclipse.com.

OMG—
Don't look at it!